KOTA KINABALU: Universiti Malaysia Sabah (UMS) Vice Chancellor Prof. Datuk Dr Taufiq Yap Yun Hin urged staff who received promotions to continue to excel in their respective areas of work.

According to him all the staff involved should have a boost in productivity and work more competitively than before.

"Grade promotion demands improvement compared to the work results in the previous grade. All those promoted had shown increased productivity in line with the upgrading of their positions," he said.

Taufiq in his speech at the presentation of promotion letters to UMS administration staff here recently expressed his confidence in the university's personnel who have shown high spirits and commitment, especially since it is very early in 2022.

He also reminded them to place the interests of the university above personal interests.

"This is because this is where we earn a living to put food on the table for our families. (Therefore) our way of thinking must change but we must ensure that it is still in line with UMS' vision and mission," he said.

According to Taufiq, their success is also the university's success as UMS exists not because of one person but through the combined efforts of all involved.

"Therefore, I expect creativity and continuous effort to be applied in the daily work in their respective offices," he said.

Meanwhile, UMS registrar Luqman Ridha Anwar in his speech said it is the responsibility of all staff who were promoted to show commitment and good example to their colleagues.

"Congratulations on your promotions and hopefully it will be an impetus to further enhance the excellence of UMS as a whole," he said.

At the ceremony, 71 administrative staff comprising management and professional groups as well as implementing groups received their letters of promotion.
