FRIDAY, 6 MARCH – Universiti Malaysia Sabah (UMS) is committed to share its knowledge towards the development of the community of various levels everywhere.

As such, UMS through its Media and Citra Division (BMC) yesterday visited a rural school, Sekolah Menengah Kebangsaan (SMK) Kota Marudu as one of its efforts to realise these goals.

During the visit, BMC conducted a short briefing on UMS to the pre-university students of the school.

According to the head of Pre-University Curriculum Unit of SMK Kota Marudu, Razali Endot, the visit by UMS had given their students inspiration to study harder.

“I believe with the presence of UMS, it would give an input to our students (pre-university) of this school on the programmes that would be suitable for them as a career in future,” he said.

The visit also provided an opportunity for BMC staff to share their career background with the said students. –
