FRIDAY, 22 AUGUST – A final year student of Education with TESL programme, Faculty of Psychology and Education (FPP) Universiti Malaysia Sabah (UMS) described the late Ng Shi Ing as a lecturer who inspired her and her course mates.

Jaclyn Yau, who was among some friends who placed flowers near the framed photo of the late Ng as a symbolic gesture in paying their last respects.

“She always advised us to find our potential even if it was small. She was well-loved by her students because of her friendly and helpful ways. Her lost will surely be felt,” she said.

The passing of Ng Shi Ing, better known by her nickname JC, was also felt by her neighbour and colleague, Assoc. Prof. Mat Zin Mat Kib.

“She was a good neighbour and friend who always exchanged ideas in our academic sessions. I really feel the loss of a friend. I hope JC’s family remain calm in accepting her passing,” he said when met after the Memoriam Ceremony organised by FPP.

The Ceremonial Reception of the Bodies of MH17 Victims at Bunga Raya Complex, Kuala Lumpur International Airport (KLIA) this morning also brought back the ashes of the late Ng Shi Ing’s sister, Elisabeth Ng Lye Ti. – ZMD (fl)
