WEDNESDAY, 16 MARCH – The Borneensis Gallery launched recently would become a new attraction for those who visit Universiti Malaysia Sabah (UMS).

Located on the second floor of the Institute For Tropical Biology and Conservation (IBTP) building, the gallery houses a wide range of specimen collection of flora and fauna by researchers at UMS.

The launch was also attended by UMS Chairman of the Board of Directors, Tun Zaki Tun Azmi as well as the Vice-Chancellor of UMS, Professor Datuk Dr. Mohd Harun Abdullah and IBTP Director, Professor Dr. Charles Vairappan.

The gallery is open to the public with a fee of between RM5.00 and RM10.00. – SS (fl)
