KENINGAU: A total of 42 students from the Universiti Malaysia Sabah (UMS) organised a campus programme visit to Kg. Tagai, near here for three days which ends on Sunday.

This programme which focuses on the community were joined by first year students of UMS from various programmes that exposed students to the culture and community life in the village as they have become "adopted children" to the families in the village.

Apart from other activities while immersing in the lives of villagers in the area, participants were also involved in charitable works such as go-tong royong on the second day of the programme.

Kampung Tagai village spokesman who represented the village chairman cum Development and Security, Harry Daniel Gitik told the media that the programme had a good impact between the villagers and the varsity students.

"We are very grateful for the group's presence and we are happy that this village has been selected as the UMS program destination. There are plenty things that we can share here and we are hoping to all involved to get the 'sweet feeling' of this village.

WITH HIGH SPIRIT... some of the participants in the campus programme

"Through this programme, we expect that the village community will learn something new from the UMS students" he said when met at the UMS group reception.

Harry hoped that in line with the Institutional and Community Interaction Program of (UMS), all the objectives of the programme will be achieved and hopes that UMS will come and visit the village in the near future.
