The unit will collaborate with the UMS Library on the one day workshop involving talks to improve the skills of lecturers and students in publishing their own thesis.

In a statement, UMS believed the workshop would be able to increase the publication of university owned books.

Two lecturers from the Universiti Teknologi Malaysia will be sharing their knowledge in the workshop.

Both academics have produced many journals in the international and local publications. Participants would also have an opportunity to meet the writer of "The British Role in Iranian Domestic Politics (1951-1953)" Dr Mansoureh.
