UMS third ICORM on Nov 22

KOTA KINABALU: University Malaysia Sabah's (UMS) School of Medicine is organising the annual three-day International Conference on Rural Medicine (ICORM), starting November 22.

A statement from the university on Monday said the third ICORM is jointly organised by Ministry of Science and Technology Information, Asia-Pacific Academic Consortium for Public Health, Sabah State Health Department, Rural Medicine Research Unit and the Sabah Rural Medical Association

(Perdesa).

The conference, themed "Health Transformation in Challenging Economies", will address pressing health issues particularly in the area of rural healthcare and education.

ICORM organising committee chairman, Associate Professor Dr Shamsul Bahari Samsudin, said distinguished local and international experts have been invited from Canada, India, Myanmar, Korea, Philippines and Indonesia.
