KOTA KINABALU: Universiti Malaysia Sabah's (UMS) Enactus team recently implemented a community programme under the auspices of the Unfold project aimed at helping the poor, especially in urban areas.

Among the communities targeted by the group are single mothers, the blind, orphans, and people with disabilities throughout the State.

Enactus UMS has helped the latter to generate additional income to ease their burden through the production of handicraft products.

Several handicraft skills workshops such as making bracelets using plastic bottles and making key-chain from aluminum cans was carried out by the UMS Enactus team for the residents of Bukit Harapan Welfare Home and Orphanage Tambunan.

Unfold Community Project Director, Aarston Friend Dickson said the projects undertaken by UMS Enactus team will help improve the socio-economic level of the programme participants directly or indirectly.

"Generating creative ideas and implementation Unfold project is an initiative by the Enactus UMS team to improve the lives of the underprivileged in the State," he said.

UMS Enactus team also invited local residents to support the Unfold Community Projects.

All contributions and support can be channeled to the Bukit Harapan Welfare Home, Tambunan Orphanage and Sabah Society for the Blind.
